

NEWCHURCH, RAWTENSTALL, ROSSENDALE

ACRE MILL, BOOTHFOLD, CLOUGHFOLD, CONSTABLEE, COWPE LENCH, CRAWSHAW BOOTH DEAN, EGYPT, GOODSHAW, HALL CARR, HIGHER BOOTH, LONGHOLME, LOVE CLOUGH, LOWER BOOTH, LUMB, NEW HALL HEY, OAKENHEAD WOOD, RAKEFOOT, SCOUTE, STACKSTEADS, SUNNYSIDE, TUNSTEAD, WATER, WATERBARN, WATERFOOT, WATERSIDE, WHITEWELL VALE, AND NEIGHBOURHOODS.

NEWCHURCH in ROSSENDALE is a very populous chapelry in the parish of Whalley,; 20 miles N from Manchester, 14 S from Colne, 9 NNW from Rochdale, 8 S from Burnley, and 3½ SE from Haslingden. It is said to have obtained its name from the local church, then called the 'New Church', and houses which were soon reared around it forming xxx. This has not much changed in aspect, the buildings of modern date being erected in the neighbouring valley. The commercial establishments of Newchurch and the surrounding area are numerous and extensive, and furnish employment to a large number of hands in the spinning and weaving of cotton and woollen goods. The Irwell passes through the valley and on its banks are several mills, chiefly for the production of the articles before mentioned. Iron is wrought in the neighbourhood, as are also numerous quarries of excellent freestone. The first church was built in the reign of Henry the Seventh, rebuilt in the reign of Elizabeth, and afterwards rebuilt and enlarged in 1825, and consecrated in September 1826. The living is a perpetual curacy, in the gift of the vicar of Whalley. A new church, dedicated to St James, has recently been opened at Waterfoot. There are chapels for dissenters, and a free grammar school founded about the year 1701, and endowed by John Kershaw of Wolfenden. There is also a board school, the late Mr Robert Howarth, of Warth, having bequeathed the munificent sum of £500 towards erection thereof. A like sum of £500 was also left by the same gentleman for the erection of a school in connection with the Wesleyan Methodists. Fairs are held on the 29th of April for cattle, and on the first Monday after Midsummer Day for cattle, pigs, articles of clothing and pedlery. Newchurch contains 9,650 people, and comprises the districts or townships of BALLADEN, DEADWEN CLOUGH, TUNSTEAD and WOLFENDEN; xxx the hamlets of BOOTH FOLD, CLOUGH FOLD, SCOUTE, RAKEFOOT, WATERSIDE and WHITEWELL VALE, and xxx in 1841, 11,668 inhabitants, in 1851m 16,918; by 1861 it had increased to 21,413.

RAWTENSTALL is a rapidly improving town, partly in the township of Newchurch, and partly in that of Lower Booth, about 2½ E by S from Haslingden, on the line of the East Lancashire Railway. The manufacturing establishments here, and in the neighbourhood, as before stated of Newchurch, are various and extensive. Rawtenstall is a polling station for the Northern Division of the County. A very beautiful church was erected by subscription in 1837, and endowed by the munificence of Henry Hoyle Esq. of Newall Hey, who also gave the site for the building. There are schools in connection with the church, which, with the two others – one in connection with the Longholme Wesleyan Chapel, and the other called 'Holly Mount School', established by Messrs. Whitehead for the education of the factory children – have conferred incalculable benefits upon the increasing population of this village. The last named school, which cost

£2,000, is surmounted by a tower, with a clock, and is a really ornamental building. The Wesleyan Chapel, Longholme, exhibits great elegance in its design, and the decorations and fittings of the interior, which is furnished with a fine-toned organ, are in the best taste, and might serve as a model for similar temples of worship. In the Sunday School connected with this establishment, erected on the site of the old chapel, nearly seven hundred pupils receive instruction; it is also used as a day school, as above stated, for children of both sexes. A chapel, situated on the Haslingden road, erected chiefly by the munificence of Messers. David and Peter Whitehead, called the Methodist Free Church, was opened for divine service, June 18th 185; its style is Corinthian, with a handsome portico, and is capable of accommodating about 1,000 persons. The entire cost – including land and organ – was about £6,000. A platform is used in place of a pulpit, with a reading desk, supported by two mahogany Corinthian columns. There is a neat little chapel belonging to the Unitarians, and the Primitive Methodists have erected a neat chapel, at a cost of nearly £2,000. A Sunday school is in connection with it. The Roman Catholic Chapel at Constablee is a handsome Gothic edifice, erected in 1841. Great interest seems to be evinced in this district by the manufacturers and other spirited individuals, for the moral and intellectual improvement of the adult, as well as the juvenile population, by the establishment of a mechanics' institute, a news room, schools &c. CONSTABLEE, NEW HALL HEY, COWPE LENCH, EGYPT HALL CARR, LONGHOLME AND OAKENHEAD, are places comprised in the town of Rawtenstall. A fair is held on the 21st of June. The population, which is very considerable, is returned with Newchurch and Lower Booth.

ROSSENDALE FOREST, or Chase is a large district in the southern part of the hundred of Blackburn. It comprises the township of NEWCHURCH, which includes DEADWEN CLOUGH, TUNSTEAD, WOLFENDEN, and BACUP BOOTHS. It also comprises the township of LOWER BOOTHS, in which RAWTENSTALL, is situated; the township of HIGHER BOOTHS comprises CRAWSHAW BOOTH, GOODSHAW, LOVE CLOUGH AND DUNNOCKSHAW BOOTH. The Forest of ROSSENDALE also comprises the townships of COWPE LENCH, NEW HALL HEY, HALL CARR and the township of MUSBURY, situate respectively in the parish of Bury, and the townships of YATE and PICKUP BANK, in the parish of Blackburn. It was anciently spelt Rosendale, and previous to its being disforested (which, by tradition, began to take place about the reign of Henry VII.) was thickly studded with large forest trees, interspersed with rose bushes, from which it is supposed to have derived its name. It is recorded that the 'forest trees grew so near to each other, that a squirrel might easily leap from one tree to another without alighting on the ground, from New Hall Hey to Sharney Ford, being a distance of four miles. The present appearance of the country is very romantic, and during the summer, affords many beautiful and extensive views from the mountains, with which it abounds; and many springs of water, which run out of the valleys and hills, impart additional interest to the scenery. This district is very healthy, and the air, though keen at some periods of the year, is salubrious, and the inhabitants remarkable for their longevity. There are places of worship for the Society of Friends and Methodists, and a national school. A fair is held on the Thursday in Whitsun week. The population, which is considerable, is returned with the parish.

CRAWSHAW BOOTH, in the township of Higher Booth, is a considerable manufacturing village in the parish of Goodshaw, 2½ miles N of Haslingden and 1½ from Rawtenstall. This place is fast increasing in importance, from the many firms established in it for the manufacture of cotton goods and calico printing. The literary institution, established in May 1851, is now in a prosperous condition. There are places of worship for the Society of Friends and Methodists. There is also a national school. The Duke of Buccleuch is lord of the manor. SUNNYSIDE and RAKEFOOT are in Crawshaw Booth. A fair is held on Tuesday in Whitsun week. The population of the village, which is considerable, is returned with the parish of Whalley.

STACKSTEADS is also a rapidly improving village, in the township of Newchurch, situated on the high road between that town and Bacup. With TUNSTEAD it comprises a separate ecclesiastical district, formed in 1841. It is a station on the East Lancashire section of the Lancashire and Yorkshire Railway. The manufacturing establishments here are very numerous and extensive; those of the Messrs. Munn & Co, being the principal. A neat and substantial church, with an octagonal tower, was erected in 1840, at a cost of £2,000; it is dedicated to the Holy Trinity. There is also in connection a national and infant school. There are places of worship for Baptists, Wesleyan and Primitive Methodists. WATER BARN and ACRE MILL are places in this district. Population included with the parish.

The township of HIGHER BOOTH comprises GOODSHAW BOOTH, CRAWSHAW BOOTH, LOVE CLOUGH and GAMBLESIDE BOOTH. At GOODSHAW is a church dedicated to All Saints, first erected in 1529, in the reign of Henry VIII; and rebuilt in 1829. The living is a curacy in the gift of Hulme's Trustees. There is a national school in connection with the above, erected in 1811; also one at LOVE CLOUGH, erected in 1847. In this township are also chapels for Baptists, Wesleyan & Primitive Methodists, & Roman Catholics. Acreage of Higher Booth 2,000; of Lower Booth 630. Population in 1861, Higher Booth 5,131' Lower Booth 4,655.

LUMB is an ecclesiastical district in Whalley parish and union, two miles from Newchurch and five from Burnley. Stone quarries, and cotton and woollen manufactories afford employment to the majority of inhabitants. The church, a small stone structure, is dedicated to St Michael. There is also a national school. DEAN and WATER are hamlets in this district. In Water is a British school Population in 1861 2,647.
